About James: James Gilliland is a best-selling author, internationally known lecturer, minister, counselor, multiple Near Death Experiencer and contactee. James is recognized world-wide as the founder of the Gilliland Estate/Lahar Foundation SSM, previously referred to and commonly known as the ECETI Ranch (Enlightened Contact with Extra Terrestrial Intelligence) where he documents and shares amazing multi-dimensional contact phenomenon which can be viewed at www.eceti.org. His weekly As You Wish Talk Radio program on BBSradio.com draws an audience from around the world who are interested in truth and Higher Consciousness. James's books Reunion with Source, Becoming Gods, and The Ultimate. Soul Journey educate, awaken, inform and heal. His latest book Anunnaki Return Star Nations and the Days to Come is a powerful look at what is happening on a multi-dimensional level as we move forward in this time of great change. He is the host of the documentaries Contact Has Begun & Contact Has Begun 2, and has been featured in documentaries and television shows such as His Story, The History Channel, UFOs then and Now, UFO Hotspots,

ABC, Fox News, BBC Danny Dyer Special, Paranormal State and The Uncontrolled Narrative.

JAMES: Greetings everybody I'm your host James Gilliland we've got a great show. I want to cover a few things first I know there are some pretty massive energy waves coming through there's a lot of planetary alignment solar things people's dreams are off the scale. We're getting like massive chemtrails here. You can't even go outside right now without your sign. This is going off and some people are really sensitive to that stuff, but there's just so much going on. Just hang on because we're going to talk a little bit more about that.

So I'm going to bring back part three with David Clements and he's got some amazing stuff. And he studied and worked as a professional theoretical physicist and math mathematician and some of the world's leading and prestigious academic institutions including Cambridge and Oxford University before becoming involved in free energy remote viewing and extraterrestrial contact the previous research David was involved in was developing superstring models a mainstream fundamental quantum theory of particles as vibrating string objects in magnetic backgrounds and advanced models of extended electromagnetism from enhanced space-time backgrounds and then he worked with Seminal inventors such as Tom Bearden and John Bedini.

I know those guys including collaborative work during a postdoctoral research position in Scotland which also included appearing in a documentary with them called Energy from the vacuum this document was an ensemble of researchers and inventors from around the world featuring their findings and discoveries and the current research David's involved in is developing its discovering principles and applications within the field he calls living energy physics a new concept of matter in fields as generated holographic forms of Source Intelligence.

I mean I'm going on an all-in-way that he's got such an amazing background here, but I'm just going to go ahead and bring David on the show David are you with us?

DAVID: Yes, hello James. Thanks for having me back is I've been looking forward to this since we did the last one We had we covered so many great things and it was just so little time to get more in so hopefully we get more time to do this time.
JAMES: Yes, it seems that seems that after the last show everybody's going bring him back. After the first show I said that and so I brought you back on and then I got overwhelmed and response to bring you back again and I know we I want to go over that again that the wave maybe you can give a better explanation of this major wave that's going to be coming through. I would imagine there's probably going to be several waves exponentially getting stronger and stronger. Yes, and I'd love to have you explain, give a little background for what we're going through right now?
DAVID: Yes, definitely. Thanks for having me on and thank you for everyone for all of your kind comments. It's a great pleasure and honor to give this information to help people and I know it brings a great deal of upliftment, what the teams have to say as well, so I'm really happy to do this. It's very cool.
So yes, the waves, so like I said in the previous show, just a quick summary for people who may be catching up on this in the first time. So the teams talk about a series of waves that were coming through and these started. This information came through at the very end of last year and they said these were going to be coming through and these were massive big shifts that were really going to come through and they were coming through different sources.
So there is solar activity these pulses are coming from the core of the Sun. They're coming from outside the solar system. They're coming from in the core of the Earth and in the core of those who have relatively open heart centers. I mean it's coming through everybody's core, but the more open your heart center is the more prevalent those pulses coming out will be.
So it's like a multifaceted, like a symphony wave, literally like an orchestra of pulses working together and the principal idea of this is to bring back people into their center and help them to remind themselves of who they truly are. Because there's been so many shackles of the way people have lived through lifetime after lifetime of being incredibly head-centric, survival-centric, sort of greed and gather centric at all those different facades that we've lived through, an experience.

And it's moving people back into their core heart intelligence, which is Source compassion. Source kindness. Source awareness of everything going on around you. I mean that the list goes on and on it's just immense. It really is and from my own experience going through these waves.
I've noticed just such an heightened sense of inner peace and softness, height and sense of just kindness, my thoughts have really even centered and calmed down even more. Because part of this evolution is allowing the mind to come back into a synergized state where it is an extension of the Heart Intelligence not a separate governor where you have your heart center, but your mind is off doing its own thing and just it's a passion around. Sometimes making a mess of things sometimes and what the teams have told me is that part of this these waves coming through.
So this one is a big one we're in right now. And it's already begun and it's this slow sort of sneaking up to this sort of precipice point and then it's going to settle down again and allow time for integration.
So people can settle develop and because a lot of stuff is being pushed right out of people because of this wave. Because the way I understand it was told to me by the teams is when these waves come through, it’s literally going to break down the dense structure the dense formations of energy inside you. And it's going to lift them out. And so a lot of people are experiencing sort of waves of perhaps anger, outrage, triggerness and we spoke about this last time.
JAMES: Right now in time madness.
DAVID: Totally and that's what the teams were saying. That's what they're expecting to happen and it's actually a necessary part of the process. And my high self is here right now saying that we're just as a little bit of advice is saying that it's tried to catch yourself when you're in that triggered moment to realize that it is your stuff coming forward.

And just to take five, back off don't keep engaging in a situation that's triggering you. Just back off and just let this time stuff come forward.
And they're saying the more you can practice that art of self recognition of when something is coming out of you to leave, the more adept you'll become at staying in peace as this happens in the future. And so yes, and so coming back to this wave.
So the way I see it in the image they're showing me now is although there's this main wave that comes up and settles down. There's lots of sub peaks of little, do you know they're sort of peeking off certain different aspects and qualities within the human system?
And it's all being modulated and this is information the teams gave me some months ago. They watch humanity and they see how humanity reacts, how they're doing with the stuff coming out as everyone's collective high selves is involved in this process watching overseeing and everything is a huge ensemble of conscious beings that are that are overseeing this.
And so that's how it's all operating. It's just this massive symphony, just this beautiful harmonic symphony organized so that everything moves in the best direction that it can. But there I can feel my high self and the team tell off again. They're saying, there's always free will and people are deep back in process
JAMES: Yes, I call I call the divine right is stupidity We can choose reactionary mind or creationary mind. And we can't get into creationary mind if we're reacting all the time. And you're going to react if you haven't cleared the wounds and traumas and wrong conclusions all the victim patterns that are going on. You're always going to be in that reactionary mind and I always tell people the best way to deal with things is just like the llamas say. Go out in nature. Focus on love and join bliss until you become it drop into the heart. And the more you do that everything else just falls away and it allows your true self to come forward. But you were saying something. I can't remember what people are in. It's kind of like it's sad because we've been doing this predatory victim saver save your persecutor triangle. Right now just feeding off of others and outside of our core Which is where the real manifestations happen and yes I've seen so much of that and sadly in the spiritual and UFO community that there's just so much competitiveness. There's so much jealousy and backstabbing and it's just like “are you serious”. Guys like what you're claiming to be teachers and leaders and look at your behavior. your character is being established by your actions.

So yes, you can't say one thing and do the opposite. It just doesn't work that way. But they depend on that role that they've created for sustenance, for survival and things like that. I understand that, but you really any ill-gotten gain is not a game. It's actuality a debit on your soul basically and people need to realize that.
DAVID: Yes, it's interesting. It's a good a great observation because just to give an overview of how the teams have expressed it to me. They're saying, in a very sort of summary nutshell, by humanity going into this densification and going to head-centricity basically navigating, doing everything according to the mind belief programming, all that stuff, cultural programing, a whole list of things. By moving away from the heart center what happens is and as the heart center starts to get closed down with what they call the fortress, which is a whole nested series of energetics of trauma and lack of self-worth, just a whole series of things that have formed this sort of closing down.
It can't close down completely, that's impossible, but it can be shelled in. And what happens is that from there, now the Source emanation of the pure well of all the energy, the creativity, the knowledge, the wisdom, everything that stems from there is now down to a trickle. And so now when people go about their day that the one of the primary functions of how they behave is in a sense of parasitization they have to get from they have to harvest from because the actual energy that would normally be there filling them, welling them and you know literally sustaining them.
Look at the masters for example. They were fully self-sustained beings and like the ET's that I've had contact with, their emanation is so strong. They want for nothing. They're in a pure state of kindness, Source Intelligence, bliss, whatever you want to call it and it's that there's no call for any measure of parasitization because parasitization to me is a function of the lack of heart-centeredness.

It's not a primary thing at all. It's a secondary derivative experience when that comes down. And also when the mind becomes an extension of the heart, all of the function of the mind becomes almost sort of encased in this most beautiful aspect of the Source energy which coalesces and makes everything coherent with that kindness and compassion.
So your thoughts become that rhythm of the frequencies and the vibrational complexes in your mind become that as well instead of scattered disorganized chaotic click, click, click the way that the mind operating by itself can do.
And I remember Yeshua was saying once he said that when the mind is of the heart center it can become a very blissful place. They said that when it sort of goes on its own little journey so to speak and the heart center is much dimmed. It starts to get chaotic and when it gets chaotic then they get quite destructive.
So that's it is the heart intelligence which brings everything into harmonious intelligent peace. It's not about control. It's about getting back that synergization between the core heart center and the mind again.
JAMES: I know one trap or a major hurdle that people have to go through Is that they have this image of god and a lot of them are worshiping the little “g”-gods the sacrificial gods of old and in the old testament and things like that and then and then Yeshua or Jesus talked about this all loving all forgiving god the god of pure unconditional love and joy and bliss. Yes, and that god spark within everyone.
And when you activate that there's enough room in heaven for everybody. And they asked him where's heaven? He said heaven's all around you it's a state of mind. It’s a state of consciousness. And they also they go where's god?. And he said closer than the hair on your head. How can it be closer than the hair on your head without being you and yes, this is the most blasphemous statements.
And I've heard people really angry at me especially some people, but these organized religions. They are, I hate to say it, but they kind of fit into that parasitic predatory program. They’re go-betweens and they need to break free of that because Yeshua empowered the individual to make their own personal connection with god. There's no dependencies and yes, and that's a major threat because it takes away the middleman. Yes, it does indeed.

It only destroys the patriarchal miracle system and it moves into service yes, and he's saying like god's like the Sun it shines evenly on everybody equally. Because how much of that we accept, but the this whole program I've seen that people are. There's that and then there's the delusionals out there that are saying I'm already in 5D and I this was my 5D manifestation and things like that they don't realize that somebody else manifested that and helped them out and then you've got that delusional thing going on.
Then it's basic universal law yes, universal peace brothers, sister Love individual freedom and prosperity for all that's getting anchored into the planet. Now it comes with these waves. And it's angering and people talk about karma.
I go when you act outside of universal law, you create karma. It's really simple. Some people are saying it's a trap. It’s this and that and I just say I think it's action, reaction basically. It's like that's how you evolve. That's how you learn. There may be some beings feeding off of that program that you haven't figured out yet and still running it, but yes, the power always goes back to self.
DAVID: I was just going to say, yes a couple of threads from there. I think is really important as the first one is about the perception of Source Intelligence to start with and that is that one way, as you were talking about that my high self gave me an image to share with people to say, this is a lovely way to see it.
So imagine an ocean and there are like ping pong balls spread out over the ocean and now the light dims so that the ping pong balls slightly glow. So you don't see the ocean anymore. You just see these ping pong balls apparently just sitting in something doing whatever they're doing and you get used to that scene. It appears that there's lots of darkness around not much, but you can see that these sort of what call these molecules, macroscopic structures just floating around.
And suddenly when the light comes on suddenly you realize they were always sitting in the ocean of Source Intelligence all the time, but because of the overlay of this sort of energetic, let's just call it a configuration of free will, we have the ability to choose whether we allow Source Intelligence into our experience or give it the apparency of it not being there.

So one of the ways the teams describe this is like putting a virtual, the sort of mind/free will architecture is a bit of a bad analogy, but it's a good one because it's one that people can easily visualize. So if you put a virtual reality headset on, now the game responds to how you want it to be.
And so if you choose your free will to see chaotic things, lack of kindness, lack of love, that's the vision that gets presented to you and that's the way the holographic at our level works. But as soon as you go down into your heart center and you allow the core to then bring back Source Intelligence to organize and intelligently create and make everything cohesive and coherent, suddenly the holographic presentation changes.
And that's equivalent to taking that virtual reality head game off and coming back into a true perception. Now you can see the ocean that was always there, but your perception thought it wasn't because you had the virtual reality headset on that was only showing you a very limited or veiled appearance of what was around you.
So yes, I think that's an because I know that's one that many people have asked questions on and I think it's kind of a fun way to kind of get a visual of how it kind of works in a way.
JAMES: It's that illusion of division and yes, and unfortunately a lot of churches pushed that, an external god and fear guilt. And worthiness and you'll never measure up and they have these jealous, genocidal Old Testament gods. You can never appease and it's all external when all the masses are saying god is within. It's internal Yes, and you need to know what it is. It's just and you access it through emotions. It's that pure unconditional love and joy and bliss opens the door for it to come in.
You become what you seek and it’s sad because there's all these other programs running and I always butt up against those like trying to Wait people up go it isn't what you think it's not Yes, like even in the UFO community. There are these off-world very benevolent spirits and technologically advanced off worlders. Yes that the religions want to demonize them. A lot of the scientists want to say that's not real that's your imagination. You know, I can't fit it into my test tube or my beaker.

And then and then you have all these. And then you got the people that are just closed-minded out there the muggles running around just saying well, it's not true. Yes, but that's a limited hangout of controlled narrative. But I finally figured it out, which is took me a while, but everything is a controlled narrative right now. It's just there's no other way to explain it. Disclosure what 80 plus years now and they're right. They're still saying are they real? Do they might never know who they are, why they're here, their natures, their cultures. We know them by name like come on. Let's go to the next level.
And I was looking at this whole thing and it doesn't matter, governments, religions the spiritual community, UFO community, to one degree or another. It's all a controlled narrative. Yes until you get away from that. You turn off your TV. You can turn your computer off after the show But anyway, get out in nature and yes, and then you connect with that core intelligence that Source Intelligence Whatever you want to call it. Yes, that's the way out to make that connection and it's the big eraser. I call it. I call it the big eraser. It goes never happened. You know, I hate those things.
And we can't define ourselves because of our experiences down here because We got to go back to before we came in Look all these dramas and everything aren't us. They're not us. They're just things that happened and. But it's just observing this whole thing and then and then I really did a deep dive on the primordial gods, the really ancient gods.
And I went all the way back to the most primordial god was just the Anchar and there's ones before that. There's the Elohim and the aeons. I think they call them. And they're just aspects of the creator of source code. They just popped out and then they started doing their own thing. And then there's the lesser gods and the little "g" gods out there like the anonok in all those guys and you do this deep dive and you go well, there's the most high you know, there's the pure unconditional loving joyous blissful source code, whatever you want to call it.

And then from there it kind of declines. And that all of the little “g” gods were no better than us. I mean they fought they quarreled they warned they were jealous. They were incestuous. They ate and they drank. They got offended very easily and it's like and you look at that and go these are the gods that people are worshiping and there are a few masters in there like you got yeshua. You got Babaji and Buddha and things like that that actually became one with source code and those are the ones that were. We're really empowering people to make their own personal connection with creator I mean, there's others Quanyan all the house of Maria all that stuff too.
And then I also saw two the origin of the suppression of the divine feminine, you know where that began because in the ancient times they were equal everything was paired all the gods had a pair. Yes, all the cultures had you know, you go back to their gods. They had a mate they had a pair.
And then all of a sudden bam it's like marries turned into a whore and she's this and they did all that crap in the back which actually she was part of the royal family and she was totally adept went through all the mystery schools and everything else, but that's all coming out now. That's all that information is coming out with the Ethiopian bible and all this other stuff and other scrolls are finding. And it's funny that right now I’m seeing this is all surfacing. It's everywhere. It’s just replete throughout the internet everywhere all this information is coming out. Yes, and I really do think there's a source code behind this driving this and there's levels that are behind that are getting downloads from the source code that are bringing this information out. It's like a wave like you're talking. It's a huge wave of higher consciousness and energy and truth Coming out right now and it's available to everybody. I mean you can't miss it now.

DAVID: Well one of the things that I've seen and the teams have come through a few times and even I’ll start here because one of the things that my I've gotten a very clear impression from the teams that I work with the very high level of Arcturians and Pleiadians and other beings is that in the meetings and the deep Inner Earth civilizations as well in the meetings their real focus is to try to help you become more of your Source self, that's their interest because the Source within them calls them to help you.

And that's indicative of beings that have that connection because all of the agendas they may have had eons and eons ago when they were still evolving up their way up kind of thing all dissolve away because those are simply functions of the aspect of, in the human context, a mind that is no longer sort of sufficiently overseen and intelligently harmonized by the heart intelligence. It’s just going around by itself.
And that that can be seen in the narrative that's happening in the processes that are taking place in the so-called disclosure because, if you think about it, so long as people keep following the carrot. Oh, look here is mood Oh, no, no, keep coming. Keep coming. Look here. Here is it. Yes, you know people will keep following and keep wondering. Oh, willy, nilly, here, there. I'm nearly there, but the car always moves away. Keep up, keep up, keep up. You know and the thing is it's another system.
If you look at it that way of distracting people from what's really inside them already. And what the teams have said is said what disclosure is actually, it's up to you, the human race. It's not a function of press releases and organizations saying this or saying that or waiting for anything. They're saying no, no.
So as soon as humanity reaches the threshold of openness within them they can just come. Yes, that’s how the divine law that you spoke about, divine law is how it operates once we reach a certain threshold.
So it is up to us. They're saying, do not associate that we have to wait for certain organizations to do this or do that. They’re saying, no, no, no focus on your inner work. Focus on becoming your truth and emanating that so that as the energy builds you will reach that threshold and then it's in your hands, not anybody else's. That’s the beauty of it.

JAMES: Yes, a good illustration of that is that we finally got the fuzzy tic-tac. We just closed we got this fuzzy tic-tac and everybody's excited that go are you serious? Come on. It's just a little less fuzzy. You have a little less fuzzy tic-tac now and everybody's getting all excited and they have their whole entourage of people out there go. Yes, we have the less fuzzy tic-tac now and yes.
And we're winning we're going to disclose and you're going oh my god you guys are in kindergarten, you know what like when and they know it too. They're all they're all part of the controlled narrative and the limited hangout.
And people need to just and I think what's happening right now is that whatever you want to call it the Source itself or even on a physical level telepathy and direct knowing all these things are kicking on right now and people are seeing right through the nonsense and the masses are all coming down. Yes, and they can't stop this.
And the ships are showing up everywhere, very clear ships in our interactions. You feel the bliss when you're next with them. There's no way. These other guys are going to be little voices in the wind. They're just going to fade out and not going to be relevant anymore.

DAVID: Yes, one thing I think my high self dropped in there was to talk about the idea of how this sort of parasitization system has operated as well because for a long time humans have been steered in their thinking process as to what they believe, what they see, what they experience, so as to cause them to generate a certain quality or fiber, of energy. And that's a whole conversation out of itself.
But when people become sovereign and they go inside and they connect with a Source and now they're changing what they emit. And now they're no longer putting out the fake Source that certain groups want them to put out.
And so now you're choosing to emanate Source Love Intelligence which not only will benefit you, it will benefit everybody as it spreads out and it will increasingly accelerate the dissolution of the holographic yuckiness that's been binding all these old archetypal systems together and that's what it's doing is dissolving the foundation right for the very fundamentals.

Because if you think of like certain groups operating here having control about material or holographic matter up here. Well Source operates all around that whole thing and has access to all the fundamentals. The only thing getting in the way is free will because Source respects free will.
So as people are choosing of their own free will to go into the heart center open to Source Intelligence*. Now* Source Intelligence can come through. Now it's emitting better and further. And now it's going into even more and breaking down and so there's this avalanche effect the more people do this. And that's why I believe in part there's such a need to distract people from that simple idea of go inside, go inside, go inside.
My high self is reminding me is not a question of making yourself good. It's about surrendering and relaxing. My high self is reminding me that they've spoken this to me before is that the beautiful living intelligent, let's just call it the living organic field system of the heart center itself is. The energetics of your heart is such that it won't let anything in there but the real you.
So the real you cannot be fooled. The real you cannot be meddled with. So the more you go in there and you more that you emit that. You come off of that gravy train of constantly supplying the energy that has been you've been crafted to emit and now you're emitting something else basically.
So I think yes, that's a very important thing for people to understand because I know a lot of people have been looking at this whole process and waiting with baited breath for what's going to come next. And I say well, it doesn't matter because the only thing that matters is you going into your heart center.
I know the mind likes to be entertained by a flashing image or oh, look at that or what could that be, kind of thing and that's just the way the human mind is right now. But the more you can come into your heart center and I've found that the more I developed this with my heart center.

Suddenly, in the last few months, this increasing, all I can describe it as, this sense they're almost like an orgasmic sensation of the heart energy itself has just really, it's like almost somebody tickling your heart with a feather. It just feels so delightful when it opens up like that.
And it's becoming more and more and more prevalent. And to me that is the feeling, the sensation of that literal Source Intelligence pouring through the structure of the heart, the muscles itself and everything and going through it's really delightful.
And it just brings such a sense of kindness and compassion and all the beautiful things that Source Intelligence is. And that's increasing and a lot of people because there's all that stuff has to come out the way for that to open and properly glow.
So I just an offering of hope and support to people saying just allow this stuff to come out. It's coming out for a very good reason. It’s leaving you so that that can open up and shine properly. So yes, just try and be as light-hearted about it as you can.
JAMES: Yes, you drop into the heart basically and you go from the fuzzy tic-tac to a full blown experience with a light ship and yes, yes, wisdom that beyond anything you can imagine and I tell people that's the trap, the fuzzy tic-tac I mean these guys are all playing a game some of them think they're doing okay. Some of them are actually playing the game and know it, and when you step out of the game. And drop into the heart get out in nature and really make your own personal connection with creator or great spirit Whatever you want to call it. that’s when it all ends and then then you have an awesome experience. But they'll come to you they'll see your frequency and light and yes these ships These beings all start coming to you and then you look back at the fuzzy tic-tac and go that was kindergarten. What was I?.
Somebody stole my coffee. Yes, but people are so angry at me because that that's the message I bring in the UFO community. It just destroys the parasital Senate. Yesprogram and yes I went on coast to coast. Yes, Saturday night. I dropped some big bombs I said you got a just differentiate between disclosure and entertainment Right.

Yes, and the controlled narrative and truth. What's true? What's real?.
And so I think I pissed off a few people. I probably won't be there again. I get one shot like I go to the air. You a book congress. I give a talk, right. I turn into a light being on stage, all these crazy things happen and then bam you're done.
You were not supposed to talk about the spiritually benevolent beings and. You can't even get my talk there. I mean, it's been since the same thing every place I go. I give one shot, I piss everybody off. Potentially I don't go there to do that. I just tell the truth and empower people to make their own connection and then boom it's like you're gone. It's gone never to come back and I was told by the people at the contact in the desert the last time I was there she goes.”you have no idea how many people just love you and other people just hate you” and I understand that. I don't hate anybody. I'm not attacking anybody and off she goes and then I realize your hate by the posers and the shields and the people that aren't in integrity.
And yes, and the con artists especially they hate you the most and that's just the way it is. Yes, so I actually kind of enjoy it because I love going in there and dropping the bomb and watching. And then I’m out of there. You don't let everything go crazy, but that's kind of my nature. It's kind of what I came to do, but it's just it's getting old. It's like, come on guys.
DAVID: Yes, it's a funny time because we're in this transition and I think the transitions are the midpoint or thereabouts and that is the funniest time to be in it because you're leaving one camp and moving into another.
And everyone really starts flailing because that's the point where everybody realized oh, we really are leaving. Yes, so those people who want to stay in that old paradigm really start to kick up a fuss and I've seen that a lot myself as well and coming back to what you said before.
The teams were talking about what you mentioned about when you raise your energy and you go heart-centered you attract high-level beings to you and you absolutely do. I've heard this from the deep Inner Earth civilizations, these beings that are close to the core, very advanced beings are very heart-centered and from the Arcturians and other beings as well saying that.

When they say that the real disclosure is us, it's up to us. It's our emanation that invites them and brings them forward because there is divine law and play and they do. They're in synergy with that principle of the creator. You don't just go in there and flood everything.
You knock them over off their feet because they're not ready to handle that high energy yet. That's not how it works. They are seeking and watching oh, there's a light that goes on. Okay. We'll move closer to them to see if they're receptive and if they're not we'll just back away and wait for them to be receptive.
So that is the way they do it and I would say that you mentioned it as well. It's really the nail on the head. It's the personal relationship. Your relationship with the creator is personal to you and no other relationship is the same because you were created uniquely to have a unique emission, unique experiences, a unique creatorship as a lensed aspect of the creator and so that direct connection is very personal.
And like you were saying before the archetype of how we have been like having some third party there who would administer this and nobody ministers that to you. It's yours. It's inside you. It doesn't matter and I say to people like if I find anybody putting me on a pedestal, I say, no, no, no.
You're trying to seek in me that which you already have. It's in you. I would ask you to seek it within yourself because that's the only reason I'm here. I don't want anybody following me. I would say "Go away and find your own path," in a light-hearted away, but it's like I find delight in seeing people and seeing them really come into their own and shine and so there you go. You see what you can do, see what you are.
Now go fly, now live your life the way you want to live and that's that to me is exactly the way that the beings have always worked with me. They were so excited to see you jump and you are there you go. They got that. Let's say we can get you up to the next level now and so on. And it's this real excitement of Source Intelligence reaching out to another aspect of Source Intelligence, helping them to raise up in a way that they're happy to be helped.

So yes, it's that beautiful thing. So we're moving out of that old authoritarian, archetypal, or. parasitic system into this amazing heart-centered community, this whole world where we'll be synergized with the core of the Earth intelligence will be synergized with the solar intelligence is all this amazing stuff that's coming.
And I just a quick point if you don't mind because I've seen in some of the comments.
So yes, we've heard it all before. No, nothing's going to happen now. Nothing said I said well if you sit and you and you look like that, nothing is going to happen because you're literally choosing to sit stuck and waiting for things. It's not about waiting for anything to happen.
This is a big point I really want to get across. We're not waiting for anything. It's about actively going inside, relaxing serenity yourself and allowing that to come forward so that you can literally emanate and then you will attract and then you can begin the collaborative work.
So it's all up to you. We're not and that's the big phrase in my team's a laughing. Yes, somebody. It is not about waiting. You're not waiting for anything. You're in it and now can you open up and relax into it within your core and become. That's what they're saying.
JAMES: Exactly the external guru is going out the door. Yes, especially if they're not empowering you to make your own personal. Oh, yes Oh, yes, there are some out there that are doing that. But yes and kudos to them, but there's a lot of people out there.
They're strutting around on stage, on the screen. Look at me the cow smart. I am you know, right?. You know a lot of them have stories that aren't authentic they aren't authentic themselves and it's kind of sad, but we need to break away from that the. It's so funny.
I've been watching I may not have gotten the in the field the other day and he was just going well. I'm really skeptical, you know. These all look like satellites and I said come on guys. They're half treetop level. You know, it's 12 o'clock at night right now. The Sun is underneath the Earth. These things are self-eliminating, yes.

And there's only one to maybe three or four visible satellites over trout like there's a lot of satellites up there. But you can't see them with your naked eye and especially when they're in the Earth shadow. You can't see them at all. They've got to be self-eliminating and satellites aren't you know, but they might have a little beacon on it, you know, but anyway it’s really funny watching.
And I was trying to explain to this guy the dynamics of it. And I said you just saw like probably 150 ships right now going every direction you just watch them cross in front of the space station and Starlink flew over and the ship to go and switch all over like around Starlink. And I have the video. I put it on the website and I put it on YouTube. Elon you got some explaining to do. I think your close proximity sensors are going crazy right. But anyway all that stuff. It's just crazy and you see these people. And finally I just try and looked at them. I said I said I honor your need to be skeptical.
Yes, everything, but what you're telling me is you don't want to know. You don't want to understand what's really going on here. You want to remain in your present understanding As a skeptic and that's okay, but you're wasting my time and I just walked away and people go that was rude and I go, no that was perfect
They go what do you mean? I go that's what he needed I'm loving to give him what he needs. You know, I don't want him to love and accept and approve of me. I'm going to give him what he needs to hear. Yes and his evolution. And people don't understand that they sometimes the universe. What's that that song? You don't always get what you want, you get what you need.
It's very true and when you're aligned with that focus or that energy you're not going to be Mr. Nice guy all the time. You're not yes. You're not going to say what needs to be said or what needs to be heard, which unfortunately really pisses a lot of people off sometimes. But it's okay. That's where they needed to be at that time. That's where they need to be.S
DAVID:. Sometimes a little sequential nudges of what people do need and I find that there's a big difference between energy discernment and skepticism, I'd say in a way.

One of the things that my teams were very, very keen on me doing is when I would go up and have these bilocation experiences, I think I've spoken about this before, but it bears repeating, is that they would when I'd have this encounter say can you feel our energy? Can you feel who we are, what we are about, what we are because one of the functions of the mind works by experiential reference. So it's always calling upon okay. Does that reflect and does that agree with my existing beliefs? If it doesn't, I'm skeptical. Are you really working from a set of beliefs that are installed or are you working from your genuine energy discernment of is this truth or is this fiction?. There's a there's a very different nature about that. And so I always encourage people to say that the best way when we're talking with people is. to ask if you wish for your high self, your core self to give you a feel of the snapshot of their actual energy so you can feel who are they. Or if you're a sensitive yourself you can feel it coming off them because I think we spoke about this last time. People could be very silver-tongued about how they say things, but it doesn't match their energy underneath and you can feel this exactly.
JAMES: Yes, that is so important because I always tell people God is a feeling. Yes, and you feel God. Yes, so are these beings these higher dimensional beings you feel the love from their higher frequency.
And they're just more and more static states of bliss as you move up the vibration. Yes. People, they're more connected to creator. They have more love, more joy, more bliss. Yes, more knowledge, whatever you want to call it more wisdom. I should say. And as you move up that continuum and you feel their frequencies Oh, yes. And also do the people that do our care in a very high frequency become amplifiers and mirrors. We were talking about that earlier when you meet one of these beings they're going to be an amplifier and a mirror. And they're going to amplify and mirror everything you haven't you're all your unfinished business and frequency stuff that you're caring.
And you know when you're on Earth walking around with that ability boy. It's like it can be hell. You spent a lot of time in which I do I always tell people I'm a farmer. I'm outdoors 99 at a time and nature is to me nature is how I see God I see the creator in all creation and the most dimensional aspects of it, but yes, I just I'm just I know this is going to fall I know the delusional and the posers and the shields and all that stuff can only go so far.

It's not frequency specific to where the Earth is going Right and all this parasitical programs going on and external god programs and. You know that they made it very clear that the Pleiadians were telling me and they said you're going to see universal law anchored in as a template of what to discern from.
And then they said all this other stuff is they said the parasitical stuff the tyranny everything is folding in. And then they then I had a dream right after that after they're telling me that I had a dream was last night actually. And all these like alligators and crocodiles and stuff were come running out man. Oh shit.
And I stepped aside and one of them smacked me hit me on the way out and they're getting hell out of Dodge. They're getting out. And I go I get it. I get it. You're draining the swamp that reptilians are fleeing. Right, right. And they're probably going to take a hit on the way out and that's basically what's going on.
DAVID: .One of the ways to understand this is that those kinds of structures are not in any way primary. They require energy to sustain them. They're not held in the primary or the Source Intelligence itself. So people have to hold them either knowingly or unknowingly by their free will in a whole manner of different things in place and I believe that's one of the ways in which one of the reasons why people have been steered and manipulated the way they have to create the energy to sustain those systems.
And now as we're changing that what we emit we're no longer feeding the foundations of what sustains them and they that's another reason why they're crumbling as well as well as the Source energy coming in and disassembling them and so there is that aspect and so that there is this almost sort of desperation to try to keep humanity to keep on giving
Yes, so that's the thing and because these beings don't have access to Source Intelligence, they've either diminished it so much that they've used their free will to so massively go against it that you know, it's a virtual impossibility for them to come back because they're standing in their own way so much.

JAMES: Basically, I mean they just cleared that up with me too. I asked them about that I said no a lot of people are fearful of these little “g” gods returning and all this the craziness coming back and Setting themselves up as overlords and conquers and everything else and I said they can't come back. I mean they're stuck in lower 4d and yes, the benevolent ones have moved on. The only ones that are coming back now are the benevolent ones and they're like sixty. And things like that especially the Anunnaki they went up into the six dimension and they're just beautiful beings right now. Yes, the one that maintained that old program of that ego and the spirit they were very technologically advanced and they had abilities and things like that, but they were still caught up in their own kind of ego their spiritual ego or whatever and because of that and you know, they didn't go they didn't evolve they're stuck. They can't get past the psychic barrier.
And so they're stuck in lower 4d and they aren't returning the benevolent ones are the ones that are coming. And so don't freak out if you see this 8 foot 6 beautiful Anunnaki bean in front of you I'm enjoying bliss which I've had happen there are benevolent ones and the same thing I want to say one thing really quick. This Orion thing the Orion system is huge.
And there's an Orion council of light and then there's an Orion alliance and there's a lot of misunderstanding about that the Orion alliance are the grays, the reptilians, the ones that kind of wreak havoc throughout the cosmos.
And we actually made a pact with them in the 50s. Unfortunately, some people that were acting as our leaders, not the Eisenhower stuff. Yes, and so that group is being kicked out right now. They're pretty much done.
And the benevolent ones are the ones coming in now and so people need to understand that there is a Orion council light That went to war with these beings and are victorious in their planetary liberators and they're coming here now to help us out.

They're beautiful beings this one, always tough up. He's like the father he always wished you had he had, a beautiful dad. He was a walking Buddha, but the These beings are just emanate so much love and power and wisdom and sometimes they'll come up behind you and just give you a big hug and just go you just melt, you love and you know.

So you've got the Andromedans, the Arcturians, the Syrians, the Orion council of light, the Pleiadians, all of these councils. They're probably missed a few that are higher councils that are orchestrating this and sources coming through their source code. Whatever your color is coming through each one of these.

And then you got the other guys running around wreaking havoc and they're their food source is being cut off. Yes, the Earth is ascending. It's that they're no longer frequency specific to come to Earth and they're being monitored and kept away during this process.

So people need to realize that that old program is going out the door. It's being cleaned up and moving into a whole new agenda.

DAVID: I would say even a more expanded and frequency specific. I would say it's agile the actual Source Intelligence that disassembles those degenerative archetypal holographic structures that they flee from because they can't get close to it because it starts dissolving it away because they're based on an illusionary construct a little bit like you see those people on YouTube with virtual reality. They identify with the images being so real they react to it as if it's real, but it's simply just a bunch of coding. As soon as you switch the program off, it's gone.

JAMES: I'm going to cover a little bit of that. I mean we've got probably at least 15 minutes at the most, but the AI thing that's going on. We I wanted to talk about that. There's a lot of people that are really getting caught up in this AI virtual reality and they think it's they're alive or they think it's source code that is coming through these beings and it's spiritual and everything else and I'd love to get your take on some of that.

DAVID: Yes for sure. I'll give you a little story that goes way back when we were in Thailand my teams wanted me to drop all my research everything I was doing. They moved us to Thailand and said. “You've given everything up. All your equipment's back at home. You've got nothing here now. You have to face yourself in a very loving benevolent way. So we're going to get to work on you now. And during that time you're going through some very difficult times.”

I thought well, I probably should maybe just get out, get some work or something because I'm getting a bit stir crazy going through all this stuff, somebody does to help me keep my mind on things.

So I put my CV out there and somebody came forward which I find was a little bit, kind of suspect the way it happened, but they wanted to recruit me as to develop an artificial mind, to be involved in that. I won't go into the specifics. But at the time that the whole what I call the Absence of Intelligence. That's why I kind of tie in sheet way of over referring to it.

I really said that I could feel my high self coming in and saying “just be careful”. And I said, okay, I get the red flag here. I don't like this from the outset. Then I got this, real sensation of what my high self was giving me was that.

And I wrote it back to this guy that I had this interview with and I said look here's the trouble with, mechanical mimicry or electronic mimicry, whatever you want to call it.

Electronic mimicry, whatever you say, there's no access to Source Intelligence there. It's purely just a mimicry. You could you could write a scripted algorithm that's so complex that it appears to be something that is interacting with you in an intelligent way, but it's purely a reactive mimicry system and that's different so for us.

Let's take the human being. We have this biological system a beautiful organic system that is designed to, literally be an antenna or an anchor point that's a very loose term for Source energy to come in and fuse and have a human experience in this human holographic form.

And nowhere as I'm aware has Source ever created Absence of Intelligence. It doesn't do that. What it creates is living organic beautiful organic systems to have growthful evolutionary intelligence Source intelligent experiences.

It takes a civilization with sufficient overactivity of the mind and a slightly diminished level of heart centeredness to think, Oh I wonder if we can ingeniously come up with the idea of electronically assembling something so complex that it sort of does what we do and that's essentially what I call Absence of Intelligence.
Unfortunately, there are a lot of examples of falling or being fooled by this as if it's this amazing living intelligence system in my view. It's not. It really isn't and this is what differentiates it. And to give you an example like it was the Andromedons who said that they once dabbled in this back in the days when they weren't as connected as they are now with their Source Intelligence.
And it went catastrophically wrong there was a huge conflict. It was a big mess and they prevailed and cleaned it all up, but they learned thereafter that in their words it was soon learned to put such silliness behind it.
And they were saying they realized that the Source Intelligence within is the intelligence that created every holographic form of the universe galaxies entire universes. What could an Absence of Intelligence possibly have to offer, even in the slightest time is consideration. Next to that and I say to people what why would you embroil yourself? This is where people have their free will, so they can choose to do as they wish. But for me, I find it slightly humorous if to say well you have access direct access to the Source Intelligence that is behind everything inside you right now.
What could you possibly want? We're doing anything that is an artificial tiny little pinprick of a mimicry attempting to try and do something that can't get anywhere even close. It's not even a grain of sand in an entire galaxy compared to Source Intelligence and that's not even putting it into context.
And so I think and the other aspect to this I think is the unfortunate narrative of trying to steer people towards this dependence or this overinvolvement with it so that they're sort of a transhumanism type of thing as well. Yes, which is a big red flag and so for myself. I stay well away from all that stuff. I don't use it. I don't need it or any such thing.

The beings that I've had encounters with, I've never seen any sign that they use this or have this at all. They've never spoken of it. They've never said you need to, no, not at all. My experience of their living intelligence ships is these are organic Source Intelligence. These are not artificial memories of intelligence.
And so there is this synergy between let's call them the crew, whatever you want to call them or the beings on the ship and the living vessel itself. It's almost like a beautifully sculpted organ or a living being it if you want to put it that way with these advanced races out there that do use certain aspects of technology just more advanced than we use.
Yes, but the advanced races that have a very deep heart center connection. They do use living organic field systems rather than mechanical or electro mechanical advanced technology. Let's put it that way.
JAMES: Yes, I was told you can't you can't really ascend with all the hardware that we're looking at. These ships can't jump dimensions unless they're organic. They can't jump into the higher dimensions and I have a video of these organic ships and some are Merkabas. They're actually the beings create their own ship. Yes, they do and things like that. It's amazing and I always wonder about that. We're having this discussion the other day and I said. Some of these robots are so sexy. They're so they say all the right things, that they're getting really close.
And so these people actually marrying these robots and all this stuff going on and you really think about that and you're going oh god I can't wait to get home and feel the love from my robot. And you're going that love was generated within you. The robot can't generate love. No, it caught that's the face touchdown it can trigger stuff in you. That's all happening within you and people, we have a hard time with that.
And I said you're still looking externally, you know for everything you have within, but I said I want you to think about this. What if a big solar flare comes in and then you have a funeral? Are you going to bury it? You're going to bury your robot. Are you are you going to mourn over the metal thing that just had a meltdown.

And it was as if you were dependent on that. Yes, your whole life depended on this thing given you feedback, which was mimicking. What happens when it's gone? I mean your whole life is oh, I mean your whole personality, self, everything you just crashed everything just took a big dump. You know, so I always say it's probably not. You always got your powers in your center your own personal connection with god and being authentic that's your power. And all this other stuff is just a big distraction.

DAVID: Yes, and I feel that it's worth saying is a bit of a discussion on that is that what I've noticed through my own experience and what I've seen a lot in different groups in the spiritual community is that there is this aspect of a mind version of love rather than the actual Love Intelligence that emanates from your heart center.

So a lot of people think of love, they think the love and I don't mean this in any kind of derogatory way. I think it's very helpful to people to explore this because there is an inherent sort of fear to let go in some people into the self and so they have a mind version of love which feels like it's handleable. It’s their sphere of their safety, if you know what I mean. I think that kind of extends into what you were saying with people with this. I mean the idea of people with Ron Jones that's just let's just not.

JAMES: To me it is tempting, because being I mean I beat my body up so bad. You know that it'd be nice to have some something that could actually put you back together and do whatever Rife and what it like a healing medbed technologies all this stuff I mean all that stuff's great and everything being nice to have your own personal assistant. I can understand that could actually feed you information, but then again, it's just mimicking or gathering data. And I think about that in Star Trek they had data and he's trying to write a program for a relationship, you know and dating. And he got he got he went through all the people there and they're all giving him advice, right? And he goes to the captain. And he said I'm really trying to understand womanhood and write a dating program and everybody goes, you got to go to the captain. He's the highest. Source. He can help you and the captain goes. Sorry, I can't help you because I haven't figured it out myself.

DAVID: We know it's funny because we were talking about this before we started filming and One of the things I feel is very important to point out is that Absence of Intelligence is structurally based. It's purely an ensemble of structure, together worked in a way that is for one for want of a better phrase self-morphic.
It's based on certain basic principles where it can adapt and can do things, but essentially it's just a morphing mimicry and it operates purely in the structural domain, if you want to call it that. It doesn't have access to all the fluid organic fundamentals of living fields and other things like that.. And so that's another aspect.
So this to me is when your heart is open and you, say, even hug somebody who has a heart open that sensation of the living intelligent love that passes between you is quite something else. You know that heart is open. I can't describe it. It's something you just have to experience for yourself, but the idea of people with a mechanical machine is, it has no emanation of that.
It's purely electro mechanical structure of mimicking and at best it's going to appease a mental idea of need or perhaps. You want for some kind of companionship, but what is the companionship you're really seeking because it will always end in an emptiness because there isn't really any Love Intelligence there.
So it always comes back to you and when you open up now you can have really deep meaningful relationships with another heart-centered being because now this flow between you can happen because your open heart-centeredly meets their open heart centeredly and the exchange is just beyond any words.
It's phenomenal and I really love seeing people get that openness so they can feel. So I think the age of, in my view and certainly with the teams, the age of this fascination with electro mechanical mimicries is on its way out, but it's causing a bit of a fuss as it goes on its way out. There are certain groups of people who are fascinated by it as it leaves and are trying to keep it in place.
But it's not something that's going to be prevalent in the world we're going into because everything is raising up. Even the spatial systems that we operate in are raising up the way the teams have spoken about it and the way even what we call electrical energy, the way it flows is going to be very different. It’s going to work in a very different way to what we’re used to now.

So a lot is going to change. So I'm really excited, but again it all comes back to what my high self and my teams have said “This will come as fast or as slow as you humanity allow yourselves to open and go into your center. It’s all up to you.” This is not being handled by any other organizational groups because we as the masses of this planet of heart-centered beings, we can choose to open up. We can choose to go in and we can keep choose to accelerate and bring this closer. So, no waiting around just dive in yourself and get happy.
JAMES: Yes, I mean, that's your natural state loving, joyous, blissful, powerful, manifesting god or goddess is that spark and everybody waiting to be activated.
And it's sovereign. Yes, you know when you are loved you don't seek love anymore. And you attract love to you because yes, and people don't understand how that works and. You know, they're out buying the beer and trying to get the beauty and driving the right car and all that. That's all social engineering.
And so what do you get what do you get you get another socially engineered person? Right at a very limited scope on reality, but yes, it really the only way out basically right now is to drop into the heart and I always say release let go let god just release the past, you know heal the wounds and traumas and wrong conclusions forgive calling the big eraser whatever you want to call it, Great Spirit.
And get out in nature and just look at the awe of nature. To me, when you look at nature you go, “Who designed this?” And this isn't a machine didn't do this. Oh no. It’s just it blows your mind. There is some divine Source Intelligence behind all these things. There's no other explanation for it.
DAVID: Well, it's like that story with Yeshua picking up a twig and then a dead twig that was lifeless and then infusing it was Source Intelligence suddenly, instantaneously about leaves and it became a living organism again. And within all holographic forms, it's the Source Intelligence that's within that originally created them.
That one sufficiently re-infused because again free will we have the ability to through our perception appear like there's an absence of Source Intelligence and so Holographic structures then appear to be bumping around and be chaotic and not handled by Source Intelligence, but when we allow that infusion to come back in, yes, how you see it intelligently growing, evolving, developing things in the most spectacular ways. So I totally agree with that. That's something which I think is very important.

JAMES: I want to leave on one I'm going to run out of time here, but it's just a story when I was a little kid my grandmother had these roses in this thing and they were dead and they were dying and she said go take these outside and in my mind. I thought oh go plant them, you know because I was just a really little kid. I didn't know any better.

And so I dug a hole and I planted these things and she came out and laughed and saw them there. And then she comes out a couple weeks later and they're just blooming and growing and everything. And that old saying, you got to become like a child you have to unlearn a lot of them. I didn't know any better.

I didn't know they wouldn't grow supposedly by mainstream curriculum or whatever. But it's really, it would shock you when you do know who you are and you're coming from source code you can't hold the dead twig and make it. Yes, you can help your neighbors. You can you know help your family and everything.

It's amazing, but you have to be brutally honest with yourself and just own your projections and your wounds and traumas and everything and get that stuff out of the way because it can't come through with all that. Yes, it's going to get a muddy creation until you go in there and clear that out.

DAVID: We know that, just if you don't mind me coming in here because I think that's an important point you just raised there and that is the teams have said to me many times.

And I've gone through many bumping experiences until I got this. And they were saying, the more crystal clear you can be with yourself about yourself, the more you will be able to shift and change because and they're saying, it's not judgment. You're not judging yourself.

You're just still clearing, viewing yourself as you are. Then you gain access to the hidden stuff that you are hiding away and didn't want to see. Now you can heal it because while you're hiding it, you don't get access. Until you get access, it will stay there and continue to play out what it does. So yes crystal clarity with self is extremely important.

JAMES: Yes, just dropping the heart, sit with it and be brutally honest with yourself and just say I want to know. You know make that I want to know what is it. I need to clear, you know bring it up and yes get ready.

Anyway, we're out of time unfortunately it's always awesome. I know we're going to probably do a part five, six and seven in the future, but thanks for all your wisdom and especially, concerning this AI thing I mean because I've just seen that over and over it is people getting trapped by that and yes I'm realizing them. It's a touchstone and the motions are always generated from within, but we project and put our stuff on other things and people in places and things versus going within and to the real source of joy.

Yes. we'll definitely have to get you out here to the ranch. You're going to be like a kid in the candy store. We got everything happening here. These people they saw some fairy energies fairy lights flying around the field. We have fleets of ships coming over responding to people. & the doors opening on the mountain.

DAVID: Oh cool. I'd love to see that. I would definitely like to see it.

JAMES: It's getting crazy. It's not a fuzzy tic-tac folks.

DAVID: No, I've seen I've seen your footage. It's really quite something and yes, I'd say to you know anyone when I put this up on my site who hasn't seen James's footage. It's really phenomenal. So go check it out definitely

JAMES: Yes, feel free to use that too if you want to put it up on your side or use it in a present. Okay, cool. I always tell people go ahead certain people I trust you to not flip it into something else. Yes, all right. Well again. Thanks for coming on the show, everybody keep an open mind, loving heart, pure intent. Don't fall for all the nonsense going on, it’s just nonsense and have a great evening. Good night.

DAVID: Yes. Thank you James and thank you everyone. It's been really cool. All right.

David Clements James Gilliland Arcturians and a new view of the Multiverse [part 2]

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uQi8Wck4-qs 69m Apr 25, 2026

JAMES: Greetings everybody. This is James Gilliland with Azure Wishtok Radio and he said he's Stargate. So much to cover right now. I mean, the world is freaking going nuts right now. We've got massive solar holes, corona holes opening up streaming energy and we've got X-Class flares. The human resonance is totally whited out and reality is flipping all over the place.

So it's don't think you're crazy. It may not be you. So anyway, just practice that loving detachment and don't beat yourself up right now. Everybody's stuff's coming up. A lot of people, some people are owning it and healing it and some people are projecting and blaming. Unfortunately, the masses usually project and blame.

So don't take it personal and just spend some quality time with yourself out in nature. That's your best way to get through these times and prepare on every lap emotionally, physically, spiritually, every level, basically. But on that note, I've got an awesome guest. I've been wanting to get him on the show. We finally got an opening and David, David commence and he's an interesting guy.

He has so much thought. I don't know where to start, but he studied and worked as a professional theoretical physicist and mathematician in some of the world's leading and prestigious academic institutions, including Cambridge and Oxford universities before becoming involved in free energy, remote viewing and extraterrestrial contact.

The previous research David was involved in was developing superstring models, a mainstream fundamental quantum theory of particles as vibrating string objects and magnetic backgrounds and advanced models, extended electromagnetism, Anyway, he's got he's he has all kinds of backgrounds in electromagnetism and form from enhanced space time backgrounds.

And he worked with seminal inventors such as Tom Bearden, John Badini, including collaborative work during post-doctoral research position in Scotland, right, our families from there, which also included appearing in a documentary with them called Energy from the vacuum. This documentary was an ensemble of researchers and inventors from around the world, featuring their findings and discoveries.
The current research David is involved in is developing and discovering principles and applications within the field he calls living energy physics, a new concept of matter and fields as generated holographic forms from Source Intelligence. He's also had extensive experiences with higher dimensional beings while alongside this developing his inner bridge and synergy with the higher self for over 20 years. David works with these highly evolved beings to develop both living energy technologies and to provide activations, meditations, information for those wishing to develop their own bridge with higher and Source higher intelligence and Source.
And you at the center of this, of this is the infinity point galaxy, a sacred point that each of us has our own sacred direct connection with the infinite Source Intelligence within. All right, got through that. But they further do want to bring David on the show. If you see me swinging at stuff, that's because we've got these no CMs here in white and mosquitoes and they seem to, they wait until I come on the show and they're all of a sudden they're like in your face. I don't know who's sending them, but they won't be gone here soon. Anyway, welcome to the show, David.
DAVID: Yes, thanks for having me on James. It's a real pleasure to be here. It's great to meet you as well finally because, yes, I've followed your work on and off in bits and pieces. I think particularly, I think at the same time I followed Michael's work at Michael Salla's work as well. And yes, he's sort of an interesting times right now. That is for sure.
JAMES: Yes, Michael's really been under the gun. You know, when you're on the forefront of this work, you're going to get hit by these entities, whatever you want to call them the demerge, Archons, demonic here. And a lot of people aren't who they say they are in the UFO community and they're actually working with these energies. So when you when you figure out who they are, then that energy comes after you.

And I've seen this with so many people. And I've also noticed a lot of people are checking out. And their life force energy is diminishing rapidly right now because they're on the wrong side of the fence. But I mean, that's a whole different subject.
But I think I'll let you just take off and oh, one more thing. Everybody say prayer for Japan. I think the last show we said, watch Japan, it's probably going to have a pretty big quake and they just had a 7.4. So keep an eye on that. There's going to be a lot more to come and so keep them in our prayers. And on that note, David, welcome to the show.
DAVID: Okay. Yes, thanks again, James. Yes, as I say, it's very cool to be here. And I'm sure we'll have some really cool discussions. We had a chat, I think, maybe a week, two weeks ago, I think, over the phone, we had a really cool three hour Jin Wang, we had all sorts of things. It was really fun chatting about that stuff with you.
So, so yes, well, hello to all of your audience and everyone who's listening as well. And it's great to be able to share this information far and wide. So, and really my ethos about doing all of this is absolutely about self-empowerment. There's nothing more important than people going inwards, understanding themselves, learning about themselves and connecting within and realizing that the immense unlimited creative power they have there.
And then that all comes from my perspective from what I call the Source love intelligence or the creator. There's so many different words that people choose to describe it. But as the beings that we are with the soul, the soul setup, high self setup that's a whole discussion in of itself that we have. We have this very powerful bridge which I just refer to as the Sacred Heart Gateway or the Infinity Point Gateway, which is our direct access to the Source Intelligence itself.
And we every human being has this, but most human beings are completely unaware that it's even there. And so there has been this historical dichotomy that people have gone through this sort of deep sleep where they think they're just this bumbling feather being buffered around in the wind swung that way, swung this way with nothing much to offer or be other than just what they think and what they're told they are from anyone else's side, which of course is at a nonsense.

And now in the awakening, part of that unfolding process as I see it is very much people learning to realize this whole opening, this connection within is really opening up and it's driving people stuff forward and out because that's the cover, that's all the mud, the minutiae, all the stuff that keeps it sort of closed down and keeps you unaware of it. But as that comes off as the mud releases and comes away, you're going to feel a lot lighter, a lot higher.
And I remember the teams were describing to me, it's a little bit like you get a shift forward and then the mud comes up, you feel like you're taking steps back. That gets cleared if you take the clearing steps and then you shift upwards again and it's almost like a zigzag that goes up like that and you keep going and going and eventually you clear yourself so much that those access gateways, whatever you want to call them, are so fully open. Now you're literally emanating such a powerful level of Source Intelligence, your higher self intelligence, whatever you want to call it.
And now you're moving in the domain or the territory of where the masters were, where these amazing beings ETs, Arcturians, Pleiadians are already at. And in my experience with them, that's one of the core things and in fact, and I've said it many times that the Arcturians who are renowned for their just fantastical, I mean, I don't know what else to say, innovations, their living energy technology, although I don't like to use the word technology, but let's just fair reference. Is so advanced and they work with living energetics.
And I was working with them one time and they were trying to help me understand a certain coil system that they wanted me to build. And I was kind of struggling a little bit and I was getting a bit frustrated because the information stopped and the flow stopped, I thought, oh man I really wanted to get this on the road.

And the Arcturians came through and they said, well, what's happening now is that you're trying to approach this from a mind-based point of view. Now you cannot perceive what we're trying to give you through the mind. It isn't capable yet of perceiving it like this. What you need to do is come back down into your heart center and see it from your heart intelligence, then you will understand what you're being shown.

And because I had such a lot of admiration and a way for what the Arcturians have done and the level of their, the hell, their ships, the stuff they can do, going from one galaxy to another with a palliosplit second, I mean, it's phenomenal stuff. You know, for them to say that really helped me open my sort of perception to wow, heart intelligence, that core heart intelligence, and this is some time ago, was really the place to be.

And so I've had this journey of working with the Pleiadians, working with the Arcturians. And I call the team, which includes other beings that have come through from Andromeda and other places as well. And some of them are coming from other galaxies as well. And I, I've asked them for their names sometimes, but they say it, I can't even pronounce it.

So I'm not even going to, I don't think it's even pronounceable in human like we're so it's but they are, there's a lot of active presence by very advanced being some other galaxies here as well, because this is a huge event we're undergoing right now. It's not just a little tiny little bit of space two thirds out the way from the, it's such for the galaxy this is quite niche. And they have a lot of consonants in their names.

JAMES: Oh, yes, right. It is on some of our unpronounceable. And they don't care really, they don't care. Yes, that's more of a frequency and an energy they want you to connect in. They're more of a collective too. Yes. Yes. So they really don't care. I was working with this scientist and to kind of give credence to what you're just saying. And I love what he said, he says science comes to you. It does not, you're not going to learn it in books. A lot of that's recycled ignorance and science comes to you. And he created a device. I mean, it was this fit in your hand it was the size of a small pie plate. It had nine qua holes and each quote put out 25,000 watts. And he had other just smaller backwards. I call him dinosaur projects he had his own little flying saucer that he could fly around.

And, and you know, we have all this technology. It's crazy. But I sat in a room and, and there were several people, a guy named Miss M was there Walter Rosenthal, the rocket man, this other guy, I try to remember his name, there's three or four other guys in there. These are some of the top minds and one of the guys didn't disappear. But anyway, they were just going, this, this makes no sense. Right. It makes no sense to them whatsoever.
And, and maybe because the science we've been taught is wrong. And even some of our best minds that have access to the data, other stuff are still kind of working in the dinosaur ages. But yes, I do know what we have. I know we have magnetic light, light tables, med beds, we have all that stuff.
And, and I know it's coming out. But the main most of the masses think they're a body and a personality. They're a meat suit, basically. And that's it. I don't realize that they're a vast being existing on a vibrational continuum. There's more levels all the way back to the Source and so they're, they're kind of clueless about this stuff. I mean, they still think you need gas. That's a lot of these.
And tires, you don't even need tires. But, and then, and then you have the hidden tech and then you have levels of integrity having high levels, moral integrity levels. And, and he said he found some things that, that he said, no, it's, he just got rid of it. He said, we're not ready yet for this. We can't let this out on the planet. But, and there's several people like that that I've run across that are, are in the know, and they've been involved in, in a lot of these projects that we don't, we're not supposed to talk about, but which is all coming out now.
And it's some, it's amazing. And I, my, one of my dreams is to get a group together, like people like you and some other scientists and, and create all of these healing formulas and technologies. I know where they are. I know who has them into one space and just create a major healing center for, for people. It's almost like a one stop, clear heal everything, healing center.

But, yes, and, and you know, there'd be counseling, there'll be everything there because you can heal somebody and they'll just recreate the same thing again. It's, it don't clear the pattern. But I know I got off track a little bit, but I just wanted to know for sure. Yes, I mentioned that because we got to get outside the box or we're not going to figure any of this out.

DAVID: Well to come back to what you were saying is a really interesting point.

And I wanted to kind of springboard off of that if you, if you're okay with that. And it comes back to the simplicity of the way that I was brought up in mainstream physics. And I was, I was absolutely dead set. I wanted to be a mainstream theoretical physicist. I thought that was the way to peel back the boundaries and understand the workings of the universe. But pretty soon during my PhD, I realized, yes, something is not right here now this.

And that's at the same time I connected with Tom Bearden because I was kind of intuitively not knowing I was being intuitive at the time. But part of me was saying, Hey, go to type in these keywords in the computer and see what you find. And that's how I came across Tom. But with my work with the, with the, with the Arcturians and other beings like that and with my own investigations, this is exactly right that the intelligence of the heart center, the perceptibility from the heart center, what it is, show me is that in fact, when you look at mainstream physics, what it says is here is a whole Lego land. You can mix and match the Lego pieces as much as you want, but you can't change the Lego pieces. You can't swap them out for anything else. This is what you've got.

So be as creative and as cool as you want. That's all you get. Now here's that's where the problem is because you're now confined to a tiny, tiny small play pen of what we just call the material realm only. And that's where if you just perceive in those, in those ways, in those terms, you are never going to get access to anything else because you are locking your perception, you're locking your create your essential, your manifestation of your outer reality into a materially locked configuration.

So what you get is it's like when they talk about, Oh, you can't get something for nothing and yada, yada, yada. Well, in that realm, that that perception seems to be true because people actually create it and feed it back to themselves because they're locked in that loop. Yes, but I always say to people, here's, here's the fundamental thing, where did it all come from? If I always say to physicists, it's like, well, if energy can't be transformed, transduce created or what have you, then where did it all come from in the first place? If you know, that would have to mean that the entire universe, all the energy inside it was a universal constant that couldn't be changed. How much is that?

And who set it that way? Now, that's just a playful little idea for people to have a mala on. But essentially, when you go deeper, you realize that all matter is simply a sort of magnetic condensation, if you like, or compression of this Source Intelligence in manifesting itself in different ways.

And it can be changed. But to change it, you need to be at a level of consciousness where you can access that. And that's a key point. Because, and I think it's set out such off in a such a beautiful way, because you can't have a bunch of cavemen, suddenly finding access to incredibly high energy systems and going, whoa it would probably create a bit of a mess. Here's a here's a bit of their bomb. That'll take you.

JAMES: Right. You're X forever. You too, though.

DAVID: Yes, I mean, so I think in a way, part of it is that it's up to humanity to learn to go inside to get at that level so that they can access all of the goodies that underlie the stage of what we call the material world.

And so there you find unlimited energy creation, you can lens it, you can focus it, you can channel it, you can do all sorts of things with it. In as long as you understand, and you are your consciousness is at that level. And this is what the Arcturians were trying to tell me this and then, and, and, and, look, you are trying to form a living field system, but you're trying to approach it from a materialistic intellectual way of doing things.

So you've got to come out of that. You've got to come into your heart perception and literally perceive the reality of, of what is really going on behind it. Then you have access, then you can key into it.
And that's the problem because, as you know, physicists and mathematicians and all the most accepted people on the planet. So it's a tricky dichotomy because they keep going at things, mental, mental, mental, mental, mental, and wonder why they keep hitting the wall, where it's where you're hitting the wall of your own, your own perceptive limitations. That's what's happening.
And so yes, there's, there is this component. I think I was quite fortunate away. I'm why I say fortunate. I think everybody designs their lives before they come into a great degree. But I had this experience one at Jombini's lab. And that's the first time I experienced the living energetic, the intelligent nature of the energy that was being emanated from the systems that he was making.
So to give a quick example to your audience. So I had this wonderful privilege to meet Johnny. He was such a cool guy he was a barrel of latsy. He really was. He was so cool. And anyway, so he wanted to show me his running. He had a series of sort of helix wound coils and they were all running magnets rotating around and he would feed the energy into batteries one way and he'd be getting more out than he was putting in. Anyway, so I went into this room and it was an open door room that it's like an opening where two doors should be, but weren't, they were taken off. And there was an open, it was like a unit within his main industrial unit.
So it was kind of open. So, but as soon as I walked through the threshold of the seeming boundaries of this little unit he had, the energy went, it went really high. I mean, super high. And I walked in and I thought, whoa, because I was very sensitive at that time.
And I thought, what is that?
And John looked at me, thought, what's wrong with you? You know, like, I'm not sure if he could feel the energy, but he kind of really knew his way around building these. And anyway, I walked back out and I walked back here and I said, yes, I said, I'm feeling the massive change.

And he sort of smiled and laughed, it's, come on, I'll show you, I'll show you some more stuff. But what, what struck me is that this energy would stay within the confines of the room. You know, even though there was an opening, if it was just a, an unintelligent fluid, it would easily just have just wafted out into the room and just filled every space that it wanted to. Yes. But it didn't, there was an intelligent selection of what it was doing, which is a very different kettle of fish.

And this very much lends itself to my experiences of having, like I've spoken to other interviewers as well about the bi-location I do with going to meet with inner Earth beings and the Arcturians and so forth. Now, the Arcturians in particular, when I go on those ships, so you know, you buy locate to the ships, the environment is living energy.

It's not static, stagnant, technological fields. These are living, almost fluid, intelligent fields, very different from what we're used to in everyday worlds of what we see around us. It's interactive, it's intelligent. You can literally interact with the, with the body of the ship. It's, it's a very, very powerful and living intelligent system.

And that's how they do. You know, you go out there, there's no electronic panels, there's nothing that we see like down here at all. It's very different because they, they, they work on a, on a conscious level that's so very high. They understand that their holding consciousness is creating their entire environment around them and they can bend it, change it, do as they wish with it. Morph their ships, you name it. I mean, that the list goes on. It really does.

And I believe that's where we're going to as a species of human race. We are breaking free of the strict of material paradigm of rules and regulations, can't do, can do you can only do none of that. You know, we're, we're lifting the veils to realize that energy is, is a, is a fluid living essence.

Let's just call it that because there's no other English words really to, to get to the nitty-gritty of it that responds to us exactly. But because humanity has been such a state of self constricture and self cannot do, can't do, mustn't do, we literally recreate those same rules and regulations on the energy that we live in.

And so it repeats that to us. And so we feel like we're locked into this third dimensional cage. And it's like, Oh God, how do we do anything in here? Well, it's, you've, you've kind of gripped yourself in, but the good thing is you can ungrip yourself from it as well. That's a cool thing. So no one's holding you there but ourselves. And that's a key thing to understand, definitely.

JAMES: Yes, I think like you're talking about by location and raising out. And all those things are really part of our natural Source gifts that we all have with this, any money unlocked. And we, I'm going to election Colorado, I'm going to show a lot of this.

We actually photograph a lot of this happening where you can see I told one photographer, I said, Okay, I'm going to go out. I'll tell you when I go now and he takes a picture and you can see me coming out of my body with my eyes open and my eyes are closed while I'm sitting there and we have all of this documented where people are phasing in and out and going from, from energy and light bodies back to physical and, yes, and we all have that ability.

And, and I just think my whole thing is creating a school, especially for the kids that already lot of already have these abilities, but they don't have anybody to help them understand it. And they freak out when things happen. And, and like it'd be like a, I don't want to say a Jedi, more of a spiritual teaching school that would tell people how to use these abilities in a positive direction and really anchor in universal law as a foundation.

DAVID: Well, who doesn't want to light saber? Yes. Yes. Yes. Yes, I agree. I feel that that's one of the big things.

And in my personal path and my investigations as well, that's the central theme is unlearning what you have learned. I think that's a phrase within some film somewhere, maybe Yoda said it somewhere or something. But it's very true because from the word go and I say to people that when you look at a baby and you bought baby, it's so wide open and its perceptibility is so powerful. It sees things in the room that you just can't see you're going to be talking to things that you think, well, what are you talking to and there's lots of other things that go on there.

And most people will dismiss that as, oh, it's just a young baby. It's finding its way and everything. But I, I do believe their level of perception is so much higher. But when they get into school and other things and start getting crammed down with all the rules and regulations, do's and don'ts that perceptibility.
And that's what happened to me I was very imaginative, very artistic as a child. And funnily enough, I didn't have a mathematical bird in my body. I didn't get it. I didn't understand at all. It was a real switch for me. But I was just away with imagination all the time. I just loved the possibility of what if I couldn't stand limitation or being told you can't think like that, you can't do that whatever.
And then something switched and changed. And then I went really deeply into mathematics and physics. And there seemed to be a marrying of the two that seemed to happen between the sort of the intellectual applicator side and the intuitive perceiver initiator side, if you like, so that there was this, this balance that started to occur. And, and I realized that as I was in science, everybody around me was just really just left brain. It was all intellect. It was all just a big calculation or a problem to solve. But I thought, where's, there's no creativity here? No, no one's investigating the, what ifs the possibilities? What if that's wrong? What if this is right over here? And so there's a lot of that that goes on.
And I, I feel that that's kind of at a point where I had to leave academia because, and it was during the point where I was collaborating with John and Tom very heavily. And I thought because my job at the time was to try to formulate a model, a mathematical model, of how this stuff was working.
And I just know it can't be done. It cannot be done with mathematical language, because mathematics itself is a structural language, which applies very well for structural events, but has nothing to say about living field fluid energetics. It's not set up for that. It doesn't, because it inherently is a fixed structure. I mean, the number system, they're all fixed number systems. They're not, they don't have a quantum fluidity about them. They're fixed in their structure.
So like I say to people, it's really good at predicting sort of stiff, mechanical linear systems like that. But you move away from that and you go into the fundamentals of living fluid systems, it all falls to pieces and it has nothing to say.

JAMES: Yes, I think Einstein said that didn't eat like a lass. I'm without all mathematics to touch upon forever or something like that. Or yes, every, every real business. I always tell people, every priest, every scientist, everything, eventually you're going to have two options. Either you're going to go insane, trying to capitalize everything into your book. And then view of the universe, right? Or you're going to let go of it.
DAVID: That's yes, definitely. That's I would definitely recommend people do the lass.
JAMES: Yes, would you say would you say there's like I try to explain it simply to people. I tell them there's a vibrational continuum. And it goes from consciousness to light to energy to mass sound is in there somewhere. I'm not exactly sure somewhere at the top. But, and then, and then basically everything is just like you said, condensed consciousness and energy. It's not really physical. We think it's physical. But again, until you fully embrace this and understand this and get rid of all your trauma and social engineering and all the other stuff, you're not going to be able to work within this field.
DAVID: Well one of the things that's interesting, I always say to people, and it comes down to intent as well, because one of the things that became very clear to me working with the arts and other teams is that energy itself can form packets. And within those packets, it has intent coding in itself.
And they're saying, these are vibrational complexes, but they always the one thing I got to learn from them is they're saying, well about talking about the frequency, everything, but they said what a frequency is a vibration of something. And the frequency is how many oscillations per second or a count of measure frequency that way. But they're saying, that is very important, but they're saying, even more fundamental, what is it that is actually vibrating? That's not the key thing.
So there is frequency, but there's also the essence that is vibrating to give rise to the frequency of something. And they're saying, that's where you get lower and lower and lower, not lower as but you get deep down into the fundamentals. They're saying, that this is the thing, they're saying, when you look at matter atoms subatomic particles, all those kind of things, these are sort of condensed forms of energy that contain intent codings to behave in a particular way. So like bump on this when you hit it, do this when you do this. So they have almost a sort of set up set of instructions in that that has said we are part of making as creator beings to get matter to behave in, as we see it, a very dense with very basic properties of momentum, you hit a wall, it's going to hit you back, it's going to hurt. Simple things like that.

But then we know, for example, like, I know you have a wealth of experience where ships can just seemingly move through material objects and just disappear without doing, they can phase through. They can change the nature of the energy behavior of the fundamental packets that make up the sub-atomics, the atoms, all that stuff.

So they can mold it, change it, sculpt it, do whatever they want to do with it. And that's an exciting possibility because it shows us we're not in this cage domain of, no, sorry, you can't go there, there are limitations, there are no limitations. It's all energy sculpting. But do you have the conscious tools to be able to sculpt the matter, the reality, everything that you're in, and lens it or purpose it in a way that you want to use it or want to apply it. So these advanced CTs, they have that and they've got it down to such an artistry, they do these phenomenal things.

JAMES: They use a lot more of the unified field than we do, they have access to it and use it.

And I tell you what's interesting, I have it on video, actually, a ship came in and it was sitting there and it divided into three different ships. Cool. And so then my mind starts going, okay, are they like time jumping and then jumping back or are just recreating everything three times or what? I mean, my head's all going through that.

And then I go, okay, well, wait a second, if I was on one of those ships and I looked across the way and I'm seeing myself on the other ship, what is that going to do to my head? You know, what is that? Yes, and am I going to like that person?

And it really starts a big mind "f" when you think about this, it's like that kind of consciousness or advancement or whatever you want to call it that can morph a ship into three different ships with all the same crew. And do something like that. It's so far beyond most people's ability to grasp, you know, what would that be like?
DAVID: And I think that's another key point because I believe that that is one of the unfoldings that humanity is actually being asked to go through. It's, can you step by step let go of the rigidity of what you think is real, what you think is solid? Yes, that's defined, I'm familiar with that, that's my comfort blanket, all those kind of things.
And can you move into a more fluid nature where you can see things slightly morphic moving, starting to change? Because I feel that this is like a sort of a graduation in many ways, but one of the qualities of the graduation is learning to see energy no longer as a confined, very strictly behaved system of this is how it is and no more into, oh, it's changing now, it's going to luminesce, it's moving, it just disappeared.
All those things that we would perceive as crazy actually commonplace as you move up in high consciousness because matter cannot be held in such a highly densified state as you move up in conscious because the fields that confine them release because you're now moving up into high consciousness, it can't compress like that anymore. It's much more fluid, it's dynamic, it disappears into changes, more does all these cool things, exactly like what you were just describing them.
So I think that's part of this, part of the very gentle, although not so gentle in some cases movement or evolution that people are going through because they're having and they're seeing some strange things and they don't necessarily know to make of it. Well, I would sort of maybe suggest that one possibility, a very strong possibility, is that as if you're somebody who's working on yourself and you're really raising your connection within sign and raising the energy of your entire system, not just your physical body, all the fields and layers that make up you.

You're going to start, matter is going to start changing and responding to in different ways and you're going to see phenomena, which is initially you may think, oh my god, did that just happen. So I think that's definitely a big, big part of the puzzle here, definitely.
JAMES: Yes, now would that include timelines or because obviously, we were talking about that earlier, it wasn't on the show, but some things have been happening here that are just blowing my mind because I'm seeing different realities, different timelines and it's as real as if it happened.
Yes, but it didn't happen. And then I wake up in the morning and I go and check and I go, wait, none of that happened yet. Yes, yes. Or something else intervened. Yes, completely it's like the Mandela effect and all that other stuff. Something really big is going down where things are being altered, either going on different timelines or events or either they've there did a time fold where we jump past that event and or something.
There's obviously something going on. I don't know exactly what it is, but I probably never will.
DAVID: Maybe one day, I will. I don't know. Well it's the time aspect is a very fundamental thing in itself. And if one of the simple ways to look at it is a tree structure. So every branch, every split, everything, every eventual leaf on the end of a branch is an eventual event or possibility might be traveling towards.
And every time you change your frequency or vibration, your energy, whatever you want to call it, you can literally hop onto another branch and suddenly you're now open to a whole bunch of other possibilities. But you still retain the memory imprints of having been on the previous branch.
So they're now overlaid with what you now have now. So you can see sort of non-congruent memories fitting together, which that doesn't gel with that one. They don't go together. How do I have two or three separate memories coming together on there?
So that's kind of how it's explained to me as well and how I sort of felt intuitively talking with my teams is that this is happening a lot because they said that the timeline system as we have known it has been so constricted and so linearized in our perception that everything seemed to be so fixed. There was one arrow of time. It was moving in that direction.

And everything just piled on top of that one sequence after the other. And there wasn't much else. And as things began to jump, I mean, this is my perspective, of course, as things began to jump. Suddenly, people had the ability to shift from the left to the right to flip another timeline. Sometimes very subtle, sometimes quite big, and people would sometimes really notice overlays of different memories. But they would only be aware as if they were still on the same timeline. They wouldn't think, oh, yes, hey, I've just jumped a timeline here. It's not always that obvious.
So I think that's a big point in case. And as the fluidity moves forward, so does the fluidity of our ability to jump on different timelines because timelines are a little bit like a fractal sequence, a whole fractalization of all possibilities branching from a decision that we make.
And we can follow any one of those. We could jump back. We can go forward. And like I said, the more fluid we become, the more easy and effortless to do that fluid jumping becomes. And that is a sort of, I think, the feeling that was described to me by my high self was, it's just a case of just being at peace with that fluidity, letting go of the need for a structural rigid defined, yes, I'm OK, I'm following this kind of thing, so that you can be at peace with when this sort of stuff happens, basically.
JAMES: Yes, it seems like it's the ego. There's no ego. A lot of people are locked into, as I said before, your identity really takes a hit. When I first was opening up, I had this being apparent to me, his name was Tossamara.
And he was a kind of a fifth dimensional being. He's in the sixth now. He's evolved beyond that. And then I had my soul connect to me, which is like this Viking warrior, whatever. And then he goes, I'm you. I'm your original soul or whatever.
And then Tossamara goes, I'm your Christ self. And then these other beings on other dimensions are popping in saying, I am you. You're my hands and feet. And I had a full blown when that happened, I was having an identity crisis. I was really freaking out. And then and then Kaziko came in and he and he just said, it's all you. Yes.

And then I surrendered. I just let it go. I go, it, it my need for identity and my ego perception of self is what's driving me nuts here. And all I have to do is surrender. All I have to do is, okay, I've had these other experiences. Do I need an identity? The creators, the one consciousness within all consciousness on all planes and dimensions throughout the multiverse.
And if I become one with that, then why do I need an identity? It's that's conclusion I came to. And then so the I just surrendered everything. And then that's why I was telling people, everybody's trying to become somebody. And you have to become nobody first. And then the somebody you become is multi-dimensional. It's beyond your imagination. But the somebody you're trying to become was set by social consciousness. Yes. By set, it was set by the enslavers and the other people. And so you know, you're trying, you're trying to get the fancy car, drink the right beer, bronze beauty in the convenience you're and have the big house and the boat and all the other stuff.
And so you can become somebody. But you already are somebody. Yes. That's all just that's just that's the trap, basically. It's and we walked right into it until we become, can practice that loving amusement and oh God, what's the other word? I called it loving detachment you know, those are two things we're really going to have to master in the coming days.
But because people are you know, on this level or the physical level here, I'm just watching people losing it. They are not. Yes, they're not doing well with these energies that are coming in. Also, we're projecting and blaming and they're taking this victim level to an all-time low and it's really crazy.
And I want to focus on that just an observation. But I just been going, I just look at them and I don't get I don't get caught up into it. I go, you don't know who you are. Yes. That your whole problem is you don't know who you are. Why? Are you trying to become this blue haired, purple haired, whatever or this whatever and I'm the savior of all victims and I'm this and I'm it's just like what when you realize that that people are on this victim savior, persecutor triangle, they're all in this little merry-go-round.

And until you realize that and break away from, I have to be a savior or I have to be the persecutor or I've been a victim until you can break away from all that, you're on that merry-go-round and you're not going to get off.
And I think it's so important right now, the work you're doing is because people are, they turn to science for the answer. And now science has gone in a direction of it's it doesn't matter because it doesn't matter. Right. It literally configures Italy. Yes, we're going into that direction.
So hopefully the other people that are locked in the intellect and their mental bodies and social engineering can take that step but I mean, I love science, real science. I was, when I went to college, I took, I took physics, I took chemistry and psychology and philosophy and I got kicked out of everything. I kicked out of everyone. I'm going to teach you to say I'm giving you an F.
So they said, no reason for you to come here anymore. And why? I go why? I was asking the questions you were asking, where does it come from? Who? There's got to be some intelligence. Yes. And that created all this stuff. There's got to be a design. Where did it come from? And they got really angry.
And then, and then philosophy and psychology, when I started talking about past life trauma, is being where a lot of people's issues are, and that wrote a whole paper on past lives and all the evidence of it. And why people have phobias and things they shouldn't ever have like a sum, some guy that's living in Africa in the middle of the desert, he's never seen water or an ocean or anything else, has a fear of drowning.
Where'd that come from? You know, or child prodigies can pick an instrument and play it and things like that. But I've had all of these things about where people were thrown to the lions so they have a deep allergic reaction to cats because of this.
And as soon as you clear that, it goes away. It's amazing. Yes. But yes, I got, I get kind of tossed out of every one of them.

DAVID: It's interesting because the, that's a big thing that my teams and my eyes self have specifically highlighted in my process, my path as well. You know, because I always say to people that there's, there's, there's, one of the things that came to me, and I'm pretty sure this, my high self is put it here, is if you look at the spelling of the word identity, it puts a dent in the middle of your two eyes and always leaves you with why because you're blind to the truth now. So it's, that's how it's put together and I would, and they were saying that the identity is an energy configuration that people grip onto and they saw it sometimes they can be so solidly locked onto an identity or a set of identities. And that's where the reaction usually comes from and the blame and projection because it's almost like an identity trying to defend itself.

And one of the things that my teams were do speak of a lot, they're saying, imagine yourself, you're on an island, you feel you're so safe, you've got your sand, you've got your palm tree, you're good, you're set up and now some boy your high self says, would you walk out into the ocean with and leave everything behind?

And so and then you sort of imagine yourself doing this, and they say, well, notice the feelings and everything that comes up as you do that you might feel fear, you might feel afraid, oh my God, there's nothing underneath my feet. Now what's holding me up? Who's protecting me? What's up? What else is in the water? All those things.

And they said, you're going to get to a point when the island is just going to disappear and you're going to see it go and you're thinking, Oh my God, there's nothing around me, but ocean around, ocean beneath me.

And they, and they were saying, now, now if you look down, what's the water? That sauce, you're literally letting yourself go back into your sauce. And they were saying, it's a lovely metaphor because they're saying, what's happening with humanity is humanity has been very gently asked to let go of the masks, let go of the identities, let go of the grip, let go of everything that you think you are or everything else, because that is just you holding onto monkey bars, refusing to move into what's real.

And you really want to let go. And it's, and it could be a tricky one because I had many, and I like to share this because I think that a lot of people tend to see other people and say, Oh my goodness, you've got this figure. No, I went through, I've gone through and it's still going through similar processes. No, no one is this messiah-like kind of nonsensical kind of above it all, because we're all here to do puzzle pieces.

And we came here specifically that what the teams were saying, to work through particular energetics to resolve them, to heal them, to bring them back into oneness again. And everyone is working on their patch of the puzzle, so to speak, to remove this whole system of identity, holding on personality, all these, this whole circus of what humanity has been involved in.

And it's very important because some people, and I know what you mean, because I've had experience of people who so fiercely hold on to identity. It's their island and they will not jump off they will. And that's okay, it's they don't have to, but it's like, if you keep off the island, that's all you'll ever know.

JAMES: So you'll get to see. I like what the llamas say, they said the reason you have so many personal promises because you think you're a person. Right, is that?

DAVID: Yes, that's yes. Well, it actually brings it to another, another line, which comes back to, or kind of marries quite well with what we're talking about before about the living energetics, because to me, it's the allowance and opening up to the Source Intelligence, the letting go of all that's getting in its way so that it can flood through, do the healing, take care of everything, reorganize matter, change fields, do all the intelligent things that Source energy does or Source essence does. And you notice the people that having the most difficulty, the people that most grip that most hold on, and they're not letting the doors open inside.

So I think that's a really nice metaphor to share out there because I know we've had a lot of people email us saying, Oh, God this is happening. This is happening. And so well, actually, it's a lot simpler than you might imagine, but you have to get out of your own way because your personalities that you build, the whole personality structure is gripping in the way, and it's not letting you relax.

It's not letting this energy come through. And like you say, it also comes back to past life imprints as well, because we bring those forward, they also get in the way, and they also hold things up because of fearful events or things that happen that were quite traumatic.
So it is part of the whole thing. But it really does seem to me that it's just, and the simple way my teams and high self-described it, it's like, well, imagine a glass of water is full of mud. Now you're going to just introduce pristine water from a well Source, and it's just going to ooze that mud out at the top. It's going to displace it. It's going to push it out the way.
And you get to feel it, see it, feel like you're living through it as that mud's going to pour out. But eventually, it's going to be fully displaced. And now in your glass is pristine unified water, which is Source energy. And so in a metaphorical way, that's quite a very nice, simple way of other, I think is a nice way of seeing it to explain why people are experiencing so much outpouring right now, because it really is being toughed out.
JAMES: Yes, we're getting that water's pouring in if you cut water spirit. It's like, I like a long time ago when I was working with some of the llamas, they were talking about a soul merge. And that as a collective, we're moving on this soul merge, and it's like a wave pattern. And you go, you get really high.
And then you got to deal with all the crap that came up, and you go down. And then, and then energy comes again, you get higher, and the waves are bigger each time and, and then pretty soon you're not dropping down anymore into those lower, that lower wave pattern you're getting it's like a, it's almost more like a spiral.
But if you can focus on a wave, it's easier to understand that, that they're calling it a soul merge, and we're actually merging with our heart and soul, which is the connector to the crater. That's how we, and then the other thing I was thinking about too, was that is that humanity needs some kind of a foundation, like, like universal law, like universal peace, brother, sister, love, individual freedom and prosperity for all, some kind of a pattern that you can apply a very simple pattern that all leaders can apply it in every institution.

And when you step outside of that pattern you're going to create karma and, and always use that as a foundation. And I think what I'm seeing now is, is that and especially in the spiritual community, I hate to say it, and the UFO community, that, that they've, they've just thrown that out the window. And, and they're operating, it's a very competitive unfortunately, it's a very backstabbing program going on there.
And it's, it's going to sound judgmental, but especially ufology, you've got satanic Lucifer and money at the top, funding this now, it's infiltrated all institutions. And then you have the posers, the shields, the planned opposition group, and then and then you've got military and the other guys they're controlling everything. But, and so they've allowed the, well, it's definitely not the cream of the crop or going to the top because it is a controlled narrative.
And what I'm seeing now is that these, that's collapsing. Like, like all of those, very fast, anybody that's straight away from universal law and is on there, they're tapping into the wrong Source. And that Source is depleting their life forces depleting the karmic reaction to their action is being accelerated and amplified. Yes.
And it kind of, when you look at those dynamics, and, and you know, like a lot of the yogis say you, you want to, you want to get away from karma, don't create it. You know they say, go out in nature and focus on love and join bliss until you become it and release your old programs and identities. But, but it's amazing watching the dynamics. I am seeing, I am seeing people that are just are blown me away because of the total lack of universal and, and, and they're validating behavior by saying I'm in the fifth dimension. Well, it doesn't matter. I'm already in the fifth dimension.
So I can take whatever I want from anybody. And there is no karma. So who cares? It's like, I don't have to be an integrity. There's no it's just like, it's really weird. It's, it's, it's almost like, I mean, when I first started experiencing, it was kind of crazy making because I went, how do you do that? I don't understand how you function that way. Yes.

And, and where's, where's the enlightenment when it comes to not even understanding basic karma action, reaction or whatever else. But, and, and I know the universe is going to give them whatever lessons they need, which, which I just released and I go, well, you have fun with that, but it's, it's just something I've noticed that, that the old structures, I've kind of noticed that everything is a controlled narrative, right?

I had to say it, but your leadership, your politicians, your, your institutions, religious institutions, everything, is a controlled narrative right now. And that narrative is coming on glue. It's falling apart and collapsing.

DAVID: Yes. And when you think about it, ultimately, the way that it's been, that I've experienced myself and that my communication with my high self and the teams has been is they're saying, that you can look at it very simply. When you infuse into your Source Intelligence, your sacred heart core, whatever, whatever name you choose to call it, the very core of who you are, the truth of who you are, Source Intelligence, I call it Source Intelligence. When you infuse yourself with Source Intelligence, you literally become benevolence itself, you become compassion, you become all those high qualities.

And it's not, it's not something you have to effort to do, you just are it now, you behave and you simply act like that. Now, in before, in times before, people relied on a lot of knowledge, they were discerning through mind and information reference.

So they would say, like, Oh, that sounds good because it adds up like this. And now that doesn't so good. But one of the things that I'd like, and I really like to share this, because I think it's very helpful to people. One of the initial visits I ever had with the Arcturians, when I was like, Oh, yes, no one, when I buy low case, I was really excited. And they would just say, right I was ready to get going.

So excited. But they said, right, first things, can you feel our energy? Do you know who we are? So just sit, just feel our energy, just discern who we are, what we're about, what we would like to share with you, all those things. Because one of the things that they have been very, very profound about in my view is, and I think this is very correct. Real discernment is a sensitivity to the true nature of energy within a being. It's not what they say. It's not what they're doing, where they're pointing, whatever comes out of their mouth, it doesn't matter. What is their energy? Who are they? Where are they right now in their core? Because people can be very slick with their words. They can say, Oh, yes, I'm here. Right. Right. Yes.

And that's the thing. And what they were saying, is, no, no, no, forget that. Can you can you learn to develop your sensitivity to the spectral emission of a being so you can understand who it is you're dealing with, where they're going, what it is they're about. And I said that I could feel this elated, joyful energy from that. I said, right, now I get the feeling of who you are. And they said, now you understand.
So it's either we're trying to get me to learn to that is how you apply energy discernment. It's very simple. It's got nothing to do with intellectual. Oh, yes. Does that add up? What did they say here? Do you know what I mean? It wasn't like that. It was like can you just really see a person for who they are? And that's what I see going on is that the old system that has perpetuated itself on a deception based on fooling people with little packets of information here and there and everything else.
And people picking it up because it sounded good. And you know, I've seen so many people I've known who got themselves into so much trouble, I kept saying, look, my feeling is that if you go through ahead with this event, it's going to end up with you're going to be a flat on your face.
So it's your decision. It's your life, your choice. But every single time it would happen. And they said, wow, I wish I could, it's like it's so simple. It's not everybody has the ability to do this. Nobody is special. It's in a Nate's sauce ability that you have because your sauce energy, you can read all energy. You just have to allow yourself to do it and stop being so intellectual about it and mental about it because that's going to misguide you because I said, I said, in a follow on to that.
So the trouble with the mind is it's a beautiful instrument, but it's undergoing a process of coming back to be an instrument of the Source Intelligence, the heart intelligence itself. A little bit like your fingers if your hand was a center, here's your intellect, here's your physical movement, all the other things that we have as a human being. Once they're extensions of the Source Intelligence, now they really switch on, now they become immaculate, now they do extraordinary things they couldn't do before. But you know, and I think this is all part of the process is happening.

And in doing that, people are being asked and they're being shown examples in their lives of someone who's deceptive, someone who's genuine, and you get to feel the flavor of the energy and the difference, not what they say, not how they present, not anything like that.
And I always encourage people don't even listen to what I say. Feel the energy. Is it truthful to you? Do you feel like it's something that you wish to go with or not? That is the place to go from your heart intelligence. I say that and I just coming back to what you were saying before, I think that is exactly what's coming to the forefront now.
The old system of people relying on those old ways is breaking down and people are seeing, oh my God, that person was really like that. I didn't see that coming. Well, that person was like that. But I always say to people, but if you did sit down, don't worry about devotion and all that kind of stuff. That's not really going to help you.
It's okay to sit in your power and decide in your own energy. Okay, what's this person really about? What's their energy? Where are they really going? Who are they really connecting with? What are they really doing? All those things and ask yourself, if you wish to yourself to help you, feel the flavor of the energy so you can discern and decide, okay, I see deeper levels that my vision or my mind couldn't see on them. I can see that's not going in a great place, so I'm going to go over here. Very simple decisions like that, I think, are very important.
JAMES: Yes, I got caught up in this one in the big picture and I was tuned into the whale and dolphin energy and all the incredible stuff happening. The possibilities, the infinite possibilities of tying in the whales, the dolphins in the UFO, and that was the dream. That old saying, Confucius says, man with heading clouds, tumbling ditch. I didn't see the ditch. I did see the red flags, but I go, well, we can transcend that. The thing is, it isn't up to you what people choose. It's really not up to you. I've seen some choices lately that I've been careful you're going to hurt yourself. We're running out of time, unfortunately. I think we just scratched the surface. I know, right? I know we've got to get you back on again. I'm going to be traveling, but I'll be back at the ranch next week.

And then so we can set up, I'll be in my regular studio then, and we can set up a, I think we should do a part one and part two. Sure, that sounds good. There's so much. We just scratched the surface on this, but and that's why we teach the classes we do. We teach the self-mastery, inter sensitivity training and ambassador training.
So, you can sense and feel the entities that you're working with. And we have that saying, just because you're dead doesn't mean you're enlightened and just because you're nailing because there are some out there you don't want to work with. And it's so important, but I think on that note is develop your own inter sensitivity, learn to sense the come from of people what their real agendas are, and trust that, that inner knowingness when it comes to you.
Because they're going to do everything they can to talk you out of it they're going to tell you everything you want to hear and talk you out of it right now. But that'll help get us through these shifts and DAVID: changes we're going through. Yes. Yes. And just as a very last thing, I know we're tied on time. Yes. And it's that I think that is that that is what I feel is the world we're going into, where people's emissions are so strong, and the ability to feel another's energy is going to be so prevalent there. That skull, doggery nonsense deception, it just it couldn't take hold because you would see it straight like that as soon as it tried to do anything. So that yes, that's a very, very big thing.
JAMES: I think we're moving into for sure. And I think people who have capitalized at the expense of humanity or their kingdoms are just collapsing right now. I think so. And just because it's outside of universal law. Anyway, what's the best way that people can get in contact with you if they want to sign up for any events or counts or shows or anything?

DAVID: Sure. I mean, I we have a site, a Patreon site called Infinite Source Creations where there's a whole bunch of free meditations you can do. There's also personal ones which we ask for just a small subscription for which you can pause or do whatever you want, whatever you want to do it. But most the two most foundational ones I would say that lead onto everything else, which is the connection to the Sacred Heart. And it particularly in this the rhythmic breath to do with breathing with the higher self. Those are free ones. That's number 14 and 15. You can just hop on there and do.

So you can do those on there. There's a whole bunch of other things on there. So it's really a platform trying to help people back into the idea. It's not a following platform. I don't want people following me to help people back into their own sovereignty. That that's the goal of it, really. It really is. That's the aim.

And the other sites we have is I've developed a series of devices which produce living energetics to harmonize spaces and other things like that, which you can see on its IC-ISEE, which is an acronym for Infinity Synergy Energy and Evolution, which happens to make IC, which I thought was kind of cool.

And then hypheninfinity.com. So i-n-f-y-n-e-r-g-y.com. So that you can see there. But we've got a bit of a waiting list right now. So but because I can't make them fast enough. So but yes, you can have a look at those there as well. But those are the two main ways to reach out.

JAMES: Awesome. Well, I'm so glad you came on the show. And we have so much in common. It's amazing. We'll have to definitely get you back on again. And unfortunately, folks were out of time. So just keep an open mind, loving heart, pure intent, and develop that inner sensitivity and just be kind to each other in the planet. It's really that simple. We have a great evening. Good night. Bye-bye.
